

1950's Fancy Dress

Looking for a 1950's fancy dress? What will you wear if you're going to a 1950's party? Are you going to be an Elvis Presley or Marilyn Monroe? The 1950's were an era of many great icons.

There were lots of kings during in the 50's, but there was really one king, Elvis! Who doesn't even know him? I think everyone knows him because of its famous jumpsuit outfit. Jumpsuits were what mechanics and pilot wore but Elvis changed all that with his powder blue, contrasting stitching, sequined, hip hugging jumpsuits. If you want to achieve the total Elvis look, you'll need to work on the moves, the snarl, and the sunglasses.

A good place to start is in celebrities from the 1950's, the icons of the time. In fact, this is a phenomenal place to start, because the 1950's introduced a whole new wave of celebrity focus and adoration as film and music grew enormously popular. Some popular icons include Elvis Presley, Frank Sinatra, Marilyn Monroe and James Dean.

1950's fancy dress outfits are an extremely popular genre of fancy dress, especially some of the Hollywood inspired outfits and those costumes that are based on the characters from Grease.

However, there are also a number of fifties fancy dress costumes inspired by every day people from that decade.

All the way from San Diego is a brand new and exclusive elite quality 1950's fancy dress costumes. The Adult Elite Quality hot costume is based around a stretch-satin snap-up dress, which has a wild cherry diner name badge on it. The 1950's fancy dress outfit also comes with a white printed apron, black fishnet tights and a matching pink hat. Paired with black patent shoes with chunky heels and a metallic buckle detail, you may now have a perfect 1950's fancy dress outfit.

There are a lot of 1950's outfits to choose from. It gives to us a lot of choices without dressing up the same thing as everyone else. Aside from having a celebrity for your reference, look to some films from, and about the 50s, like Grease may be a great help also. Some of the looks of the time like Teddy Boys or poodle skirts. If you are going as a couple look at complimenting your costumes.

A fancy dress is never far away and difficult enough to look for. It takes a little bit of effort and some time, but it can also save you money and, most importantly, have one of the best and unique costumes at a 1950's fancy dress party.
